Brief History:

Committee Activity:

Commerce & Labor: 3/27/95 [DP].

HOUSE COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE & LABOR

Majority Report: Do pass. Signed by 11 members: Representatives Lisk, Chairman; Hargrove, Vice Chairman; Thompson, Vice Chairman; Romero, Ranking Minority Member; Conway, Assistant Ranking Minority Member; Cairnes; Cody; Cole; Fuhrman; Goldsmith and Horn.

Staff: Chris Cordes (786-7117).

Background: In 1978, unemployment insurance benefits were included as taxable income under the Internal Revenue Code for persons with incomes above certain thresholds. The income thresholds were eliminated in 1986 so that all unemployment benefits are considered taxable income. These benefits are not subject to withholding at the time a claimant receives the benefits, but must be reported as part of total income.

According to the Congressional Research Service, the legislative purposes of making unemployment benefits taxable were to increase federal revenues and to decrease net wage replacement rates for high-income households that include a person receiving unemployment benefits compared to low-income households that include a person receiving unemployment benefits.

The Joint Task Force on Unemployment Insurance reviewed this issue during the 1994 interim and recommended in its draft report that the legislature should petition the United States Congress to adopt legislation removing unemployment benefits from income taxation.

Summary of Bill: The Washington State Legislature requests the United States Congress to enact legislation removing unemployment insurance benefits from taxation under the Internal Revenue Code.
