Currently, there are over 250,000 health care providers credentialed in these fields.

The Emergency Management Division of the Washington Military Department (Department) is responsible for matters related to preparing for and carrying out all non-military emergency functions to mitigate, prepare for, respond to, and recover from emergencies and disasters and to provide aid to victims of these events. The Director of the Department is responsible for developing a comprehensive emergency management plan which shall address all natural, technological, or human caused hazards that pose a risk to Washington State and for coordinating local resources. Political subdivisions may create local organizations to develop local emergency management plans that are consistent with the Department's comprehensive plan. Local organizations may also enter into mutual aid agreements with other local organizations to provide reciprocal assistance in the event of a disaster.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

The Department of Health (DOH) may ask health care professionals whether or not they are interested in having their names, professions, and contact information included on a list of potential volunteers to serve in the event of a bioterrorist incident, natural disaster, or other emergency or disaster where health care providers are needed. The DOH is required to maintain the list and send it upon request to local health departments, emergency planning and response agencies of this state or others, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The DOH is not required to use the credential application process for creating the list of volunteers. The requirement that the DOH provide the list to the Military Department annually is removed. The DOH must provide the list upon the request of a local health department, an emergency planning and response agency of this state or others, and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
