Robbery in the first degree is a class A felony with a seriousness level of IX. The definition of "most serious offense" includes Robbery in the first and second degree. A person who has been convicted of three most serious offenses is a persistent offender and may be sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of release.

A "pharmacy" is defined as every place licensed by the Board of Pharmacy where the practice of pharmacy is conducted, including dispensing drugs, monitoring drug therapy and use, and providing information on legend drugs.

A person is guilty of Robbery in the first degree if he or she commits robbery of a pharmacy.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The substitute bill deletes the provisions in the original bill that modified the offenses of Burglary in the first degree and Theft in the first degree to include when the offenses are committed against a pharmacy.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) Pharmacy robberies in Washington are increasing and becoming more violent. Prescription drugs have a high street value. People who rob pharmacies are motivated by either drug addiction or money. Pharmacists, technicians, and patients should not have to be in fear for their safety. Pharmacies have sustained high losses due to these robberies. Since bank robbery note jobs were made a first degree offense, the number of bank robberies has decreased.

(Opposed) This would give prosecutors discretion in charging; where the defendant has a drug problem, some prosecutors would charge less than a strike offense, while others would charge the strongest offense possible. There are treatment options for drug-addicted offenders. This bill could lead to people more often using guns to rob a pharmacy, because elevating the offense to a strike removes the deterrent effect.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Ladenburg, prime sponsor; Jeff Rochon, Washington State Pharmacy Association; Julie Akers, The Everett Clinic; Jason Moulton,
