7 The legislature recognizes that the national historic reserves and 8 national historical parks located in Washington state are important
9 cultural and recreational assets for our citizens. Historical parks 10 and reserves preserve some of the richest historic, archaeological, and 11 architectural landscapes and cultural resources in the state; places 12 that play pivotal roles in our region's history. For the public, these 13 sites offer unmatched educational and recreational opportunities.
14 Preservation and enhancement of these historical parks and reserves
15 drives economic development through job creation and tourism, as well 16 as enhances the livability of our communities and sustains these 17 historic landscapes and structures for future generations. For these 18 reasons it is the intent of the legislature to encourage the continued 19 preservation and enhancement of historical parks and reserves located

1 in Washington state. Such sites currently consist of the Vancouver
