Moving sections of Chapter 296-17 WAC to a new Chapter 296-17A WAC

Below is a list of all the sections in chapter 296-17 WAC which comprise the industrial insurance classifications section of this WAC.

We request that a new chapter 296-17A WAC be created to accommodate the classifications section. As suggested, we are proposing to use the classification code number in the new WAC number, i.e., WAC 296-17-501 for Classification 0101 would become WAC 296-17A-0101, etc. The title of this new chapter 296-17A WAC will be Classifications for Washington workers' compensation insurance. We request that the name of the existing chapter 296-17 WAC be changed to General reporting rules, audit and recordkeeping, rates and rating system for Washington workers' compensation insurance.

If you have questions about this procedure, please contact Bill Moomau at (360) 902-4774.

OFFICE OF THE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

[Filed December 14, 2006, 4:25 p.m.]

TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE ADVISORY
T 06-07

TO: All Health Carriers

SUBJECT: Nondiscrimination Requirements for Health Benefit Plans Issued To Associations, Trusts, and Member Governed Groups

DATE: December 14, 2006

1. Purpose: The office of the insurance commissioner ("OIC") is issuing this Technical Assistance Advisory ("TAA") to assist carriers in complying with RCW 48.43.035(1), 48.43.025(3), and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act ("HIPAA") as they apply to health benefit plans issued to groups such as associations, trusts, and member governed groups (hereafter collectively referred to as "association(s)"). Some carriers are using health status-related factors in establishing rates for members who obtain coverage through an association. These practices violate the nondiscrimination requirements of RCW 48.43.035(1) and HIPAA and the prohibition of RCW 48.43.025(3). The purpose of this TAA is to explain that carriers may not discriminate against employer-members of associations and their employees with respect to coverage and premiums in policies purchased through associations.

2. Use of Health Status-Related Factors in Rating an Association: When a carrier issues a master policy to an association, the association is the "group" and the employers and their employees are all members of the "group." This principle was affirmed in Regence BlueShield v. State of Washington, Office of Insurance Commissioner, Thurston County Case No. 04-2-01761-8 based on the antidiscrimination provisions for group health benefit plans found in RCW 48.43.035(1).<sup>1</sup>

The OIC is aware that some carriers continue to discriminate among members of association groups through their rating practices by not providing the same benefits at the same rate to all members of the association on a nondiscriminatory basis. For example, some carriers are using health status as a factor in setting rates for members of associations. RCW 48.43.035(1) specifically prohibits discrimination in group health benefit plans based on health condition. In addition, RCW 48.43.025(1) prohibits a carrier's rejecting, denying, excluding or limiting coverage based on a group member's preexisting condition. The carrier may not "avoid the requirements of this section through the creation of a new rate classification or the modification of an existing rate classification." RCW 48.43.025(3).

HIPAA<sup>2</sup> also prohibits a carrier's use of health status-related factors<sup>3</sup> in eligibility and premium determinations to discriminate between otherwise similarly situated enrollees in a group health plan.<sup>4</sup>

Consequently, carriers may not use health status-related information in offering coverage to or setting premiums for an employer or employee member of an association.<sup>5</sup> Health status-related factors may be considered only to determine whether the carrier will accept the association as a group or in setting rates for the association as a whole. Thus, while it is permissible to use health status-related information to determine the rate charged to the entire association, it is not permissible to develop rates for the subset of members based in any way on the health status of the members and their enrollees.

3. Examples of Prohibited Practices: There are two situations in which the use of health status affects development of association rates in a prohibited discriminatory manner:

- An employer-member joins a association and the carrier requires its employees to submit health information.

The carrier then develops a rate for that employer-member and its employees, which depends to some extent on the employee(s)' health information, which is higher than other members' rates for the same benefits.

- An existing employer-member's claims experience during the preceding period was higher because of its employee(s)' health status, and the carrier increases the rate for that employer-member and its employees to a rate higher than for other members for the same benefits.

4. Exemption from Small Group Community Rating: RCW 48.21.047, 48.44.024 and 48.46.068 provide an exemption from the community rating requirement otherwise applicable to all small groups. These statutes provide: Employers purchasing health plans provided through associations or member governed groups formed specifically for the purpose of purchasing health care are not small employers and the plans are not subject to RCW 48.21.045(3).<sup>6</sup>

These exemptions are available only in situations where a carrier issues a master policy to the association. If the carrier contracts directly with association members, however, then small employer members are not purchasing "through" the association and the exemption does not apply.

Prohibiting carriers from discriminating<sup>7</sup> against small employer-members of associations enables those members to realize the benefits of participating in a large group health plan. This result is consistent with the exemption from small group community rating for association health plans that the legislature granted in RCW 48.21.047, 48.44.024, and 48.46.068.

5. Implementation: Carriers must review their association plans for compliance with applicable laws as described in this TAA. This TAA will be effective for association plans issued or renewed on or after January 1, 2008.

If you have any questions about this TAA, please contact Lichiou Lee, ASA, MAAA, Health Actuary, at (360) 725-7128 or LichiouL@oic.wa.gov.

<sup>1</sup> In TAA 2005-05 issued on May 11, 2005, the OIC explained that association health benefit plans are subject to large group requirements, which include nondiscriminatory treatment of all members of the group. Carriers were informed at that time that they could not discriminate in offering benefits to certain employer-members and their employees because of the size of the employer or for some other discriminatory reason prohibited by RCW 48.43.035(1).

RCW 34.05.330(3)

Pursuant to RCW 34.05.330(3), you are hereby notified for publication in the Washington State Register that:

On November 13, 2006, the Governor received an appeal from Stefan Dobratz relating to the Public Disclosure Commission's denial of a petition to amend Chapter 390-17 WAC. The Governor's Office denied Mr. Dobratz' Petition on December 19, 2006.

DATE: December 19, 2006

General Counsel to the Governor

November 13, 2006

The Honorable Chris Gregoire
Office of the Governor
PO Box 40002
Olympia, WA 98504-0002

Dear Governor Gregoire:

I have a grievance with Washington State government. Perhaps if I had included this statement in my communications to the Secretary of State and the Public Disclosure Commission (PDC), they would have responded more completely to this issue.

I am writing to you to appeal the decision of the Public Disclosure Commission regarding my petition for rulemaking. I do not agree with the PDC's response that the issue I presented cannot be resolved through the commission's authority. Their letter, dated October 6, 2006, that I received October 21st, is enclosed.

I simply want an opinion on the question of whether the use of campaign contributions from citizens of other states to fund the deposit for the hand recount in the Governor's election violated the constitutional rights of association of Washington State citizens. The recount is an issue for Washington's citizens to decide, not the citizens of the other 49 states and the District of Columbia. If these contributions did violate Washington citizens' rights, then I would like the process of correcting state laws and regulations initiated to prevent future violations.

Our government is based on the participation of citizens' representatives. If the citizens do not have control of the process for electing their representatives, they essentially have no representatives. Preserving the citizens' rights to freely select their representatives is of paramount importance. Voting is our most restricted form of speech. The same criteria used for restricting voting should be used to restrict campaign contributions, which are analogous to votes.

I have enclosed copies of my communications with both the PDC and Secretary of State for your information.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Stefan Dobratz

SUBJECT: Response to Your August 9, 2006 Rulemaking Petition Requesting Amendments to Chapter 390-17 WAC

Dear Mr. Dobratz:

The purpose of this letter is to confirm in writing that on September 28, 2006 the Public Disclosure Commission unanimously adopted a motion to deny your August 9, 2006 Petition for Rulemaking with respect to your Petition that it amend Chapter 390-17 WAC to prohibit nonrepresented voters from contributing to local and state elections in Washington State.

In denying the Rulemaking Petition the Commission concurred with PDC staff's review of your Petition. The reasons for the denial were:

First, current statutes contemplate that entities outside the state of Washington may be contributors to candidates and political committees in Washington.

Initiative 276, which was adopted in 1972 by popular vote, anticipated out-of-state contributors by requiring campaign finance reporting by political committees not domiciled in Washington State. See RCW 42.17.093 [originally codified as RCW 42.17.090]. Likewise, Initiative 134, also adopted by popular vote in 1992, includes language prohibiting campaign contributions to state office candidates from "outside" sources that do not have a connection with Washington State. See (RCW 42.17.640(12)).

Second, with respect to the argument you raised in your Petition that "the US Supreme Court's blanket primary decision (California Democratic Party et al. v. Jones, Secretary of State of California, et al.) stating that a political party has protected rights of association with their candidates under the First Amendment, therefore a citizen and voter, must have at least equal rights of association with candidates and ballot measures" is not an issue that can be resolved by the Commission through the rulemaking process.

In summary, the Commission found that current state statutes contemplate that out-of-state entities could be contributors to Washington State candidates and political committees. Implementation of your objective in your Petition is beyond the Commission's current rulemaking authority because it would require statutory changes which fall under the province of the State Legislature. Therefore, the Commission will not be proceeding with rulemaking to amend Chapter 390-17 WAC as requested in your Petition for Rulemaking.

The Commission has requested that I forward this letter to you on their behalf. Pursuant to RCW 34.05.330(3), you may appeal this decision to the Governor within 30 days of the denial of your Petition. You may also seek judicial review under the procedures of RCW 34.05.510 - .598.

Vicki Rippie

The Honorable Sam Reed
Washington Secretary of State
Legislative Building
PO Box 40220
Olympia, WA 98504-0220

Dear Secretary Reed:

I am writing you regarding a concern of what appears to be a violation of the First Amendment rights of Washington voters.

I am not an expert on constitutional law; however, I was troubled by the US Supreme Court's blanket primary decision (California Democratic Party et al. v. Jones, Secretary of State of California, et al.). It seems to me that, if a political party has protected rights of association with their candidates under the First Amendment, then I, as a citizen and voter, must have at least equal rights of association with candidates and ballot measures in Washington State elections.

It appears to me that the participation of nonresidents in Washington State elections may violate the rights of Washington citizens/voters. This also appears to apply within the state to county, district, and city elections. Campaign contributions are an example of the activities I am referring to. It is difficult for me to clearly define the scope of the activities of concern due to other protections of the First Amendment.

I consider the most recent Governor's election to provide a specific example for consideration. The citizens of Washington State were not willing to fund a hand recount for the election; however, funds were obtained from other states' citizens and the recount was performed, ultimately changing the outcome of the election. This example appears to violate Washington voters' rights of association with their gubernatorial candidates.

Elections are the way Washington voters select their representatives for local, state, and federal governments; also certain state laws are decided upon through the election process. It does not appear that non-Washington citizens (or their resources) have a right to directly participate in Washington State election campaigns. The right of association guaranteed to Washington's voters seems to extend beyond just voting and would appear to include funding and other activities. Only the Presidential election is an exception that would permit the direct participation of non-Washington citizens in Washington State's election process.

I realize that my take on the right of association, even if only partially correct, may upset 'business as usual' for the major political parties. However, "we have always done it this way" is not an excuse for violating the constitution, if that is in fact the case. Our founding fathers set-up a system where each state selected their own representatives and senators, and Washington has adopted a similar system for our state/local governments. In the age of the Internet and global communication, maintaining such a system has become a greater challenge. These are "State" elections and the citizens' right of association must be preserved. Clearly, the more populous a state/county/city is, the greater the opportunity for entities (such as major political parties) to use the state/county/city's resources in other states/counties/cities.

It is not clear to me that this is an issue of state law; however, state law appears to explicitly address this very subject in RCW 42.17.093, Out-of-state political committees—Reports.

Since you are responsible for voting issues, I am requesting that you address my concern. If you are unable to address my concern, please provide me with information on the specific process I need to pursue. Also, depending on your response, include the appropriate appeal process.

Please notify me of your expected timeframe for a response. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Stefan Dobratz
